Covid-19 online resource centres

Dear MD, Prof, FEAN Federico,

The current COVID-19 pandemic requires all medical specialists to act and take action. Given the rapid spread of the virus and the impact it is having on the world, we need to act fast and we need to work together.

In order to help medical professionals to find resources and information efficiently, we have launched a dedicated space on the EAN website with links to online resources on Covid-19 in several different categories. As your society collects resources about the virus on its website, we kindly ask you to share the link with us, to be added to the resource section. In return, we kindly ask you to feature EANcore Covid-19 on your website as well.

Thank you very much for your cooperation, we look forward to receiving your response!

With best regards,
